YEARBOOK 2025

Letter from the Chargé d’Affaires at the U.S. Embassy in Albania, Nancy VanHorn

As chargé d’affaires at the U.S. Embassy in Albania, it is an honor to contribute to the 2025 American Chamber of Commerce Yearbook and to celebrate the enduring partnership between the United States and Albania. The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania plays a vital role in strengthening the ties between our nations, including fostering trade, investment, and shared prosperity.

The United States remains deeply committed to promoting economic growth through partnerships that deliver mutual benefits. Our approach prioritizes prosperity for American workers, businesses, and industries, while embracing collaboration rooted in shared values, such as fairness, transparency, and innovation. AmCham exemplifies these principles, serving as a bridge between the Albanian and U.S. economies and a catalyst for progress.

The U.S.-Albania relationship is built on decades of cooperation in democracy, defense, and commerce. Yet, there is significant untapped potential for economic collaboration, particularly in the energy and innovation sectors. Albania must level the playing field for foreign investors – including American businesses – to compete fairly for tenders and operate freely without pressure from corruption and organized crime. Implementing reforms to address these issues will unlock opportunities for American businesses, attract foreign investment, and foster economic growth.

As President Donald J. Trump has emphasized, America’s ingenuity and determination have shaped the future time and again. From the invention of the light bulb to the modern computer, America continues to lead the world in innovation and technology. An even playing field is what allows this ingenuity to flourish globally, attracting world-class American businesses and encouraging new investment in economies like Albania’s. Albania’s commitment to reform will be vital to fostering innovation, driving investment, and unlocking the full potential of our economic partnership.

The U.S. Embassy proudly works closely with AmCham to advance policies that benefit the people and economies of both Albania and the United States. Together, we can build on this strong foundation to achieve even greater success.

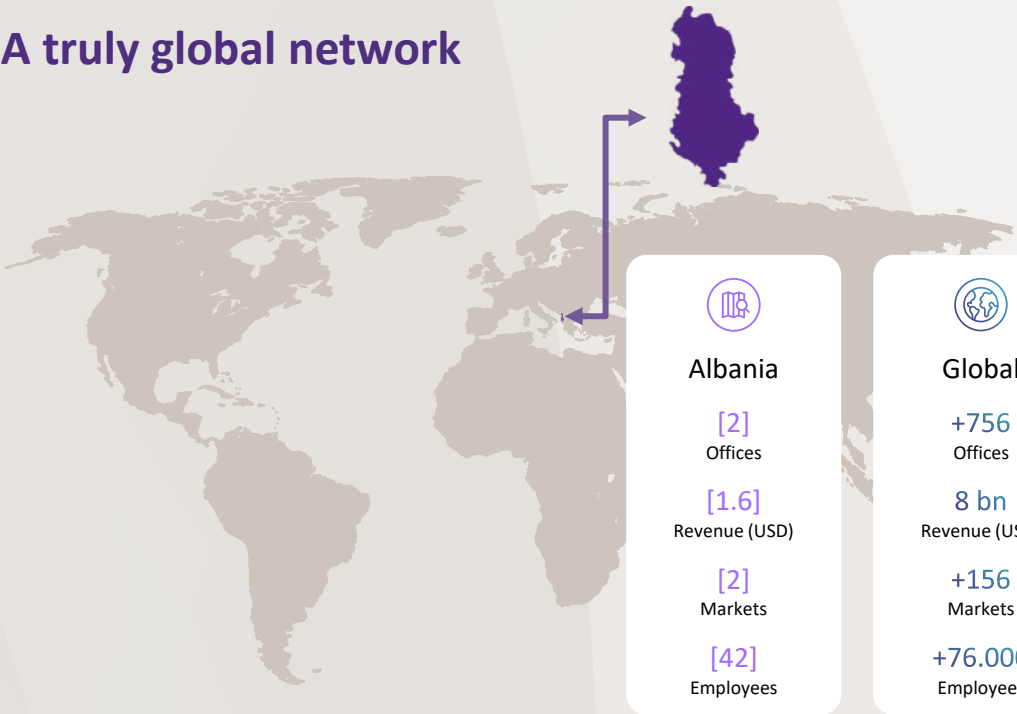

Sincerely,
Nancy VanHorn

YEARBOOK 2025

Letter from the AmCham President, Grant Van Cleve

Greetings.

Let me share a few words about our deepened functionality as a chamber, AmCham's growing influence, and how Albania's positioning with America can contribute to its potential growth in the season ahead.

I'll start with the last one, as much of the world is concerned about the unsettledness of relations with American in the Trump 2.0 era. Things are in flux, which causes a level of risk and anxiety. But I believe America itself is headed to a much stronger footing. Institutional realignment as well as a greater orientation towards the marketplace are welcome. And in its emerging golden age, each country's relation to the US will become increasingly important.

Which can be great for Albania. Albania is the most pro-American country in Europe. Albanian Americans played a key role in delivering Michigan for Trump. Albania's priority tariff rate is a good sign of that core health between our nations.

AmCham is not a political organization – neither in Albania nor the US – but it is good to know that the political winds are blowing our direction. And that the leadership of the chamber is aligned well with the US administration.

Albania's eyes are naturally on Europe these days, which the potential to join the EU by 2030.

And, yes, Europe is having more trouble than other continents adjusting to the new American paradigm. But Albania's ability to nurture strong relations with the US (and the GCC and Turkey) can be a model for Europe. AmCham can be a needed bridge. A force that can, together with the US Embassy, work to strengthen ties between Albania and America at this key juncture. It is our duty to influence the government to make clear before the U.S. administration, which continues to support us both geopolitically and economically, that we are without any ambiguity a reliable ally. This narrative must not be built on misunderstandings.

Which brings us to the second point about AmCham's public relations role. My expectation is that the government needs to keep good ties with the marketplace, and that we are premier among chambers representing those businesses. Neritan (and his great team) and I have put in significant time in the last year building those bridges. It is starting to pay off. Relations with Ministers and their teams have been consistently strong. We've impacted legislation. We can get contact with relevant departments when needed. We have conversations at social events that have become real, and because of that fruitful.

It isn't all a history of clear wins. We have areas of disagreement with the government. We've uncovered mutual frustration. We are concerned about key areas that aren't seeing the reformations needed. FDI from the US hasn't ticked up as quickly as some key projects have seen delays in approval. Our annual Business Index reflected continued apprehension from our members. But we still celebrate that a foundation exists to impact things through relationship.

None of the above can happen if AmCham itself isn't strong. Things feel solid. The team is reconfigured for greater success. The board is healthy and works well together. The relevant government entities increasingly see our committees for the immense resources that they are. We've established two new committees – Tourism and Healthcare – that have great sense of ownership. We have an addition new committee forming – Innovation and Youth. I call it "AmCham Next" as it catches what is coming through the global pipeline technology wise, and the next generation of business leaders.

In an era when massive overhaul of institutions and legislation are necessary for EU membership, the government will need good relations with quality resources. And while helping the government, also expect the chamber to help you build capacity, resilience and compliance.

So, Albania's geopolitical context lends itself to greater AmCham role, and our relations with the government may give us room to have that impact, and we are strong enough to hold the weight of this increased potential.

Thank you for being part of the chamber and supporting AmCham with time, talent, connections, and money. It has been to serve you the last two years. I knew relatively few of you when I started the role, and I appreciate the trust you showed in letting me lead you anyway. I've gotten to know many of you since. You are an incredible set of people who have built some amazing businesses. It is really an honor to come alongside you in this journey to make Albania one of the best places anywhere in which to do business.

Letter from the Executive Director, Neritan Mullaj

Dear Members of AmCham

For four consecutive years, I have had the honor of addressing the audience of the American Chamber of Commerce, and each year I feel a deep sense of pride in leading an organization whose standards have become a benchmark in the market. Part of this privilege is also the opportunity to share a message in the Year Book, which allows me to condense into a single page the intensity of a year's work, one in which you have been the main protagonists. What I summarize here are, of course, only the most meaningful highlights, yet they deserve to be shared with all of you, not merely as achievements, but above all as the result of our collective effort.

As we celebrate the 25th Anniversary of AmCham, it seems most fitting to reflect on our progress through statistics that speak louder than words. Today, we are a community of 270 members, representing a sectoral diversity of around 30 industries, with a significant contribution of 22 percent to the national GDP and a workforce presence of approximately 30,000 employees. These figures grant us the credibility to have a strong and unified voice when it comes to business matters.

AmCham has now developed a specialized network of committees covering strategic sectors such as tourism, healthcare, digitalization, and innovation. Our new committees have been a natural outcome of AmCham's growing expertise and influence in key business and policy areas. Most recently, we launched the Youth and Innovation Committee, and we are prepared to guide a new generation of young people who will become the leaders of tomorrow.

I have always appreciated the organization's tendency to anticipate trends and steer developments, and I can confidently say that we do so with competence and integrity.

Thanks to the expertise of our members, we are able to translate the concerns and phenomena experienced by businesses into clear narratives, where diagnosis and recommendations form the foundation of our advocacy processes. The American Chamber of Commerce is becoming increasingly influential in the region through partnerships that aim to create a strong and attractive regional market for U.S. investments. This represents the core objective of our work.

American investment and trade exchanges are today at some of their highest levels, yet the trajectory of success still demands continued effort. While we remain optimistic about the future of this partnership, we at AmCham understand that it is our responsibility to create the optimal conditions for this growing interest and presence of U.S. investors to reach its full potential.

Dear colleagues and partners, this Year Book message is for me the perfect opportunity to express my gratitude and appreciation to each of you, the Board of Directors, the Committee Chairs and Members, and the AmCham staff, with whom I share daily responsibilities and commitments.

Finally, a special note of gratitude and appreciation goes to our strategic partner, the U.S. Embassy, for its steadfast support and encouragement in advancing strategies and policies that promote U.S. investment through the development of a business climate that benefits the entire community. Thank you for being part of our journey.

BEST REGARDS,

Neritan Mullaj

“ Advocating for clarity, dialogue, and fair fiscal policy

The Tax & Customs Committee played a central role in AmCham's advocacy efforts during 2024, engaging actively with fiscal institutions to promote clarity and consistency in the application of tax legislation. The Committee held a dedicated meeting with the Deputy Minister of Finance to present AmCham's key recommendations on improving tax procedures and addressing concerns related to VAT application for foreign taxpayers and delays in VAT exemption authorizations from the National Agency of Natural Resources.

A major focus of the year was the workshop on the implementation of the new Income Tax Law, a comprehensive session that helped AmCham members better understand the law's implications and practical application. This initiative reflected one of the Committee's most important achievements — breaking down complex fiscal provisions into clear, actionable guidance for the business community.

The Committee also contributed to broader AmCham advocacy through the CEO Forum with the Minister of Finance, a flagship event that facilitated open dialogue on fiscal priorities, challenges faced by businesses, and the government's upcoming reform agenda. In parallel, the Committee continued to follow developments related to property tax reform, UBO reporting, and customs procedures, reinforcing AmCham's role as a constructive partner in shaping a transparent and predictable fiscal environment.

“Promoting legal certainty, transparency, and accountability

AmCham’s Legal Committee played a key role in 2024 by providing legal expertise and supporting advocacy efforts on major legislative developments. The Committee collaborated with other business associations in preparing a joint position on the Draft Law “On the National Economic Chamber,” highlighting the importance of fair representation and transparent governance structures.

It also contributed to AmCham’s comments on the Draft Law on Personal Data Protection, proposing a more balanced and transparent framework that safeguards both individual rights and business operations. In partnership with the Minister for Public Administration and Anti-Corruption, the Committee supported the organization of the event “Partnership Against Corruption,” which promoted stronger cooperation between the public and private sectors. Following this initiative, the Committee developed and submitted recommendations on the Draft National Anti-Corruption Strategy 2024–2030, focusing on integrity, accountability, and institutional transparency.

Additionally, the Committee supported member training on the Arbitration Law, strengthening understanding of alternative dispute resolution. Through these initiatives, the Legal Committee reaffirmed AmCham’s commitment to legal clarity, good governance, and a fair business environment.

The Labor and Ethics Committee

CHAIR: Roden Pajaj, Deloitte

VICECHAIR: ENDRI CELA, DUDA
SH.P.K. - HOTEL ADRIATIK &
ADRIATIK TOURS

“Building a future-ready and ethical workforce

The Labor and Ethics Committee focuses on promoting a more flexible and competitive labor market, fostering ethical business practices, and supporting talent development in Albania. It works to align future skills with education and employment needs, helping businesses adapt to changing work dynamics.

In 2024, the Committee addressed key challenges related to the future of work, emphasizing skills development and a better match between labor market demand and supply. These discussions aimed to create stronger links between education, business, and workforce readiness.

A highlight of the year was HR Week, featuring targeted training sessions for AmCham members on five key themes. The initiative offered practical guidance on workforce management, ethics, and talent retention — reinforcing AmCham’s commitment to preparing the Albanian workforce for the future.

Investment & Trade Committee

“Fostering a stronger investment climate and new growth opportunities

The Investment Committee focuses on promoting policies that enhance Albania’s investment framework and encourage sustainable domestic and foreign investment. In 2024, the Committee worked to strengthen dialogue between the private sector, government institutions, and international partners, aiming to improve the overall investment climate and increase business opportunities for AmCham members.

A key highlight of the year was the Committee’s support in organizing an information session with the U.S. International Development Finance Corporation (DFC), one of the world’s leading development finance institutions. The event showcased opportunities for collaboration and financing for AmCham members, reinforcing the Chamber’s role in connecting the Albanian business community with global partners. The Committee also assisted in the organization of the Economic Conference “Economy Restructuring for a New Perspective,” which gathered policymakers, business leaders, and experts to discuss Albania’s economic transformation and investment outlook.

Additionally, the Committee supported AmCham’s Business After Hours with the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), fostering dialogue on the bank’s role in Albania and the broader region. Through these activities, the Investment Committee continued to promote a more dynamic, transparent, and investor-friendly environment that supports long-term economic development.

The Digital Business Committee

“Driving innovation and digital transformation

The Digital Business Committee plays a key role in supporting Albania’s transition toward a digital economy by promoting innovation and technology-driven solutions that help businesses grow and adapt to global trends.

In 2024, the Committee focused on artificial intelligence (AI) and its impact on business operations. Through a dedicated presentation and member survey, it explored how AI is being adopted across Albanian enterprises and discussed both opportunities and challenges, including data protection and cybersecurity. The Committee also organized the event “AI-Powered Success: Leveraging Technology for Business Transformation,” which highlighted practical ways to use AI for improving efficiency and competitiveness.

In parallel, the Committee contributed to AmCham’s analysis of the Draft Law on Personal Data Protection, advocating for a balanced approach that safeguards innovation while ensuring strong data governance and ethical standards.

Tourism & Hospitality Committee

“ Strengthening Albania’s tourism potential

In 2024, the Tourism Committee focused on improving cooperation between the private sector and public institutions to support a sustainable and competitive tourism industry. A member survey was conducted to identify key challenges and priorities, forming the basis for creating sectoral working groups within the Committee.

These groups analyzed issues across different sub-sectors, proposed solutions, and shared best practices to enhance Albania’s tourism competitiveness. Their input contributed to the preparation of a draft Tourism White Paper, which will guide AmCham’s future advocacy in the sector.

The Committee also submitted recommendations on the Draft Law on Tourism to the Ministry of Tourism and Environment, highlighting the importance of a modern and transparent legal framework that supports investment and quality growth in the tourism sector.

Healthcare Working Group

“ Bringing expertise to advance healthcare reform

The Healthcare Working Group has been one of AmCham’s most active and impactful platforms, committed to strengthening Albania’s healthcare system and supporting a transparent, sustainable pharmaceutical sector. Through close collaboration with the Ministry of Health and Social Protection, the group has provided evidence-based input and practical recommendations to improve reimbursement and pricing policies.

A key highlight of 2024 was the meeting with the Minister of Health, where AmCham presented an in-depth analysis on the need to modernize the national healthcare system. This engagement was followed by the development of a professional Position Paper, outlining specific proposals to enhance the reimbursement methodology and increase investment in healthcare. As a result of these continuous advocacy efforts, the reimbursement list of medicines was updated, marking an important achievement for both patients and the pharmaceutical industry.

Grounded in expert insight and international best practices, the Healthcare Working Group’s work directly supports Albania’s strategic goals — fostering a predictable and competitive environment for pharmaceutical investment and contributing to better healthcare access and quality for all citizens.

Notes for AmCham Financial Report for 2024

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania (AmCham) acquires its income through membership fees, services offered to members and sponsorships from local or international organizations, as approved by the Board. In accordance with its by-laws, AmCham does not accept any financial aid from any government or subdivision thereof, or from any other source that would tend to prevent the Chamber from having freedom of action. This is how the Chamber preserves its independence and can best serve its members. The Chamber's expenses comprise administrative costs incurred from regular operations, costs of organizing and conducting activities, as well as costs for producing its publications. AmCham is committed to administer the funds with which it is entrusted by its members with great accountability. AmCham strives to maintain a stable financial situation by keeping expenses lower than income and trying to close the year in a financial position that is comparable to the previous year. For more information, the next page shows the Report of Income and Expenses for the last three years (2022-2024).

SPONSORSHIP

The American Chamber of Commerce in Albania thanks all its sponsors and supporters for their support of its activities in 2024 and hopes that the advertising received through AmCham sponsorships influenced the companies that tried to promote their business in Albania.

As it has been the case in previous years, also in 2024, AmCham members have expressed their interest in promoting their businesses in Albania by sponsoring various events organized by AmCham during the year.

AmCham Albania is an excellent marketing tool for promoting the names of the companies that support these activities.

The Fourth of July Celebration on the occasion of the American Independence Day, the General Assembly Meeting, and the Economic Conference in cooperation with Monitor magazine and the End of Year Party have been some of the main activities made possible with the generous support of some AmCham's members companies.

As every year, another great tradition at AmCham is the generous support of some of its member companies with their products at the American Independence Day celebration.

We act every day with integrity, empathy, and environmental accountability to shape a brighter future for all.

TITAN Group is among the first cement companies worldwide with decarbonization targets validated by the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi). Energy efficiency, the conscious use of raw materials and fossil fuels and their replacement with alternative ones, and the implementation of efficient waste management systems are proven means of adding value throughout the value chain as well as providing waste management solutions at a local level. Titan Albania (ANTEA) thoroughly monitors energy consumption and efficiency to reduce its environmental footprint and curtail costs. As energy management is intricately connected to the sector's decarbonization roadmap, as well as resource efficiency, the investments during the plant construction phase were performed in low energy demand equipment and in energy efficiency management.

At the same time, Titan Albania (ANTEA) remained focused on the enduring objective of balanced, responsible, and sustainable long-term growth, embracing change as an organization, and innovating at an accelerated pace.

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Dear colleagues, partners, and friends,

Our world is evolving—and with it, the demands on how we build, connect, and sustain the environments that support life. As CEO of this infrastructure construction company, I'm proud to lead a team that doesn't just respond to these demands—we anticipate them. From bridges that unite cities to substations that power entire regions, we work at the core of progress. Our mission is not only to construct, but to contribute—to shape a future where infrastructure uplifts people, protects our planet, and strengthens the bonds between communities.

At the center of our philosophy is a simple truth: we are builders of meaning, not just matter. Each road, each energy project, each public system we create is a legacy in motion—a reflection of our values, our precision, and our purpose. We operate on five core principles: legacy thinking, human-centered design, integrity in action, cultural awareness, and sustainable innovation. These are not buzzwords. They are the blueprint for every decision we make. They remind us that our work is as much about responsibility as it is about results. As we expand our presence throughout Albania and abroad, we remain deeply committed to elevating standards in every project we touch. We seek not only to meet expectations—but to set new ones, blending technical mastery with the quiet strength of long-term vision.

I thank each of you who walk alongside us—clients, engineers, planners, partners, and citizens. Together, we're not just building infrastructure. We are building the future.

WITH RESPECT,

Ardit Ismailaj
